By Scott M. Murman

A method of automating the generation of a time-dependent, Navier-Stokes static stability and control database for the Harrier aircraft in ground effect is outlined. Reusable, lightweight components are described which allow different facets of the computational fluid dynamic simulation process to utilize a consistent interface to a remote database. These components also allow changes and customizations to easily be facilitated into the solution process to enhance performance, without relying upon third-party support. An analysis of the multi-level parallel solver OVERFLOW-MLP is presented, and the results indicate that it is feasible to utilize large numbers of processors ( 100) even with a grid system with relatively small number of cells (  $10(\text{exp } 6)$ ). A more detailed discussion of the simulation process, as well as refined data for the scaling of the OVERFLOW-MLP flow solver will be included in the full paper. This item ships from La Vergne, TN.
